

Why I want to visit Cyprus?

Once upon a time, my father told me about the most beautiful island in the world. He said that the island is the specific place where Mediterranean sea becomes azure. It was Cyprus. I have never heard such warm words about an unknown island.

We used to see clean and warm sand of Cyprus beaches, azure water and palm trees. However, beaches and palms are not the main sites of this island. Warm climate, sunny days, absence of winter, lovely houses and modern development of the country prove that Cyprus is a diamond of Mediterranean sea.

One of my friends visits Larnaca and Nicosia twice a year. His Instagram profile is full of pictures from there. According to my friends' stories, Cyprus and California are the same. Somebody even calls the island European California. It must be because of beautiful nature and possibilities for business like in Palo-Alto or Silicon Valley. So, I would like to share my reasons why I want to visit Cyprus.

First of all, Cyprus is an English-speaking country. I know that this country is divided into different cultural 3 parts. The citizens and tourists need to understand each other. English is a bridge between Russian, English, American, German and many other people.

Secondly, Cyprus for me is place for my self-improving. From my point of view, an ordinary student from Russia is able to afford a language school there. If I got the prize, I would go to Cyprus in the middle of April. I would improve my English. I would better lose myself in English language and Mediterranean spring. It could give me new knowledge and spirit development.

Thirdly, I am eager to get new experience of the language school and the island. Every trip is a way to enrich my mind. I like to discover something new for me. Talking about something new, I mean not only linguistics knowledge. Furthermore, I prefer to meet new people, dive into their culture and watch how they share their thoughts.

Fourthly, when I open Instagram I often see Mediterranean spring. My friends used to go to Cyprus. It is much better to spend some spring days where sky is blue and sun shines. I do not like Russian spring. Mediterranean spring looks like an early summer. This time comes for new life after a light winter at the island. Also, Mediterranean spring is calm and fresh as blue water.

In the conclusion, I would to say that I deserve productive weeks at Cyprus!
